KEVIN McCaffrey

"McCaffrey's set will go beyond monologue one-liners, but expect the same sort of laid-back persona of a late night talk show host." New Stage City, Chicago

When asked to describe his exceedingly unique brand of comedy, Kevin says, "What I do, is I try to say stuff that's funny." That's how avant-garde he is! Relying on content more than volume, Kevin is not the crazy props guy, the crazy angry guy or the crazy fat guy. At least not yet. Kevin made his network TV debut on The Late Show with David Letterman in November of 2013 (after which he was hired as a warm-up comic for the show), and he currently appears every week on truTV's Greatest Ever series, and truTV Presents: World's Dumbest and is also a regular on Comedy Knockout on truTV. Kevin's previous television appearances include VH1's I Love the 2000s, History Channel's I Love the 1880s.

The Man of 999 Voices: BOB JAY

The man of 999 voices is back! With a show that is full of energy that will keep you on the edge of your seat, Bob brings dozens of celebrities and cartoon characters to life with his "voices in my head tour." Bob's sound effects range from a jet fighter plane to a locomotive train crashing through the walls in a club. His show has been compared to Billy Crystal and Rich Little.

SPECIAL EVENT!

RYAN SINGER

Ryan Singer is the rarest of breeds: A comic's comic who electrifies mainstream audiences with material that is both uncompromising and unpretentious. LaughSpin says, "With his high-energy delivery and unpretentious leanings, there's not a lot to dislike about comedian Ryan Singer. And it's not just us saying it: In the last few years, he's won over audiences headlining the nation's finer comedy clubs and was hailed by Marc Maron in Rolling Stone as a comedian who should be big."

Both his debut album and sophomore release were selected as Top 10 Comedy CD's of the year (2010 & 2012). He was selected by LA Weekly as one of "10 LA Comics to Watch" for 2014, was mentioned in NY Magazine as a "Comic to Watch."
